SITUATION IN FRANCE IN 2022

Part I: Politicians Absent from Real Debates

The France before and after the Maastricht Treaty

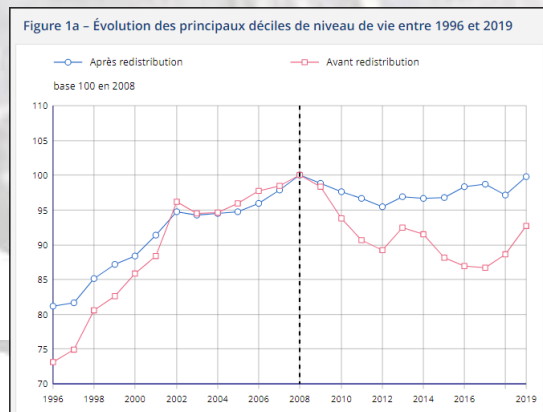

"Essential reforms" or
"Organized suicide"?

Central governments are complicit.

SITUATION IN FRANCE IN 2022

The situation in the France is not very bright, economically, financially or socially.

- 1) As a reminder, the Official Public Debt is around -€3,000 billion.
Its GDP is about €2,500 billion.
On the other hand, the Real Public Debt (Official and Hidden) amounts to about -7,500 billion euros.
- 2) The Public Deficit will exceed -175 billion € in 2022.
- 3) The Trade Deficit has itself been in total drift since 1999.
The cumulative deficit since the adoption of the euro was -€1,000 billion in current euros.
It had been in deficit of only -€64.4 billion (equivalents) over the period 1971-1998.
For 2021 alone: it was -€ 84.7 billion (but in reality -€102.9 billion according to EUROSTAT).
For the year 2022, it will happily exceed -€150 billion.
- 4) Job losses in Agriculture and Manufacturing are enormous.
In the most "realistic" scenario, we have therefore lost more than 4,000,000 agricultural and industrial jobs since the creation of the euro ⁽²⁾, double that if we count the economic benefits in families and regions.
However, for the record, the population of the France has increased by 10,000,000 inhabitants in 30 years.
Still for the record, many productions are at a standstill in a large number of economic sectors.
And many products are missing from the shelves because of wild subcontracting .
- 5) Poverty in France: INSEE 2019 (<https://www.insee.fr/fr/statistiques/5431993>)
I let you discover their comments but, one thing is clear, the statement of Fabien ROUSSEL (PCF) is verified on this graph:

"The left must defend work and not be the left of social benefits and minima."

And I add :

"The left must not be the left of torturer officials ."

² This type of study is not readily available, but TRANSRURAL reported that 1,500,000 active people remained in 1992, while the latest figures show 400,000 active people at the end of 2020. An INSEE study, published for the period 1982 – 2011, already estimated job losses at -1,071. 400 in Agriculture and -1,556,400 in Manufacturing. The phenomenon has grown since 2011.

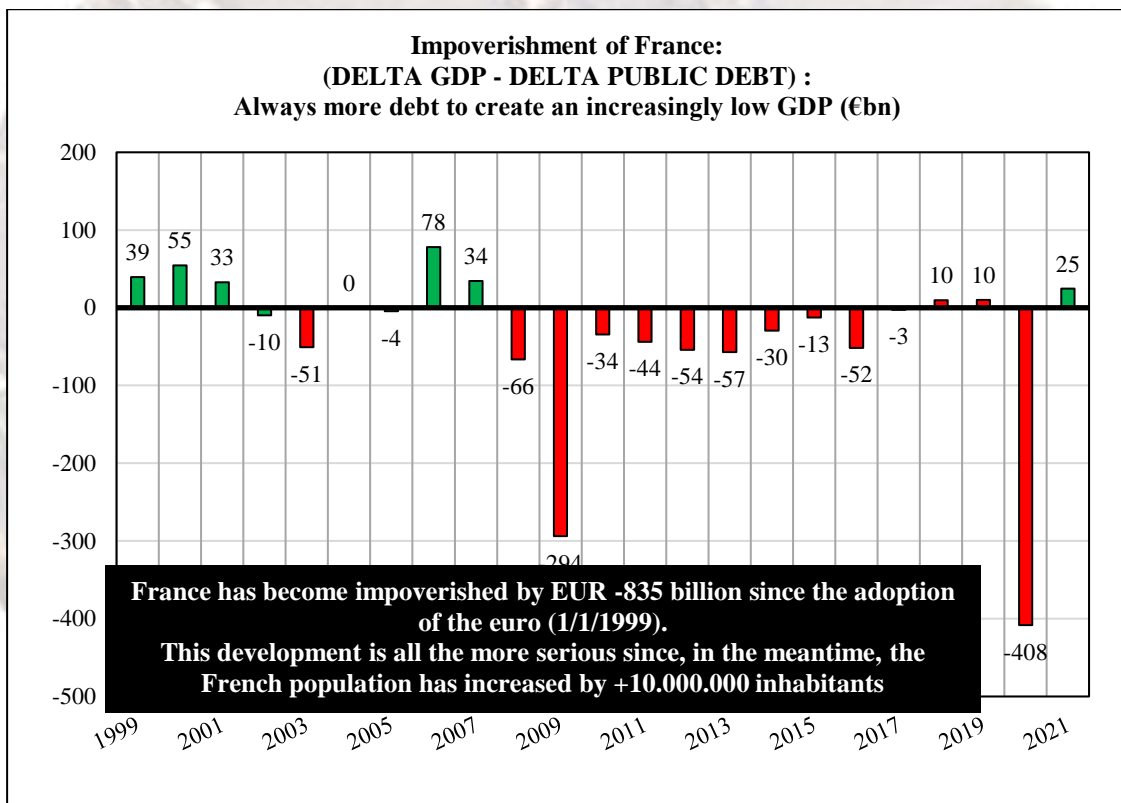

Yes, I denounce these administrations which, directly or indirectly, "monitor" and "enslave" more than a third of the population (3).

On the other hand, how do they manage such an unmanageable country?

What buttons will they press so that the "bosses" of microenterprises (4 million in 2019), SMEs (150,000) and mid-caps (less than 6,000) increase the salaries of their staff to offset the disastrous effects of inflation?

However, this inflation was created from scratch by the central banks, and the war in Ukraine is a good excuse to forget the supreme cause.

It is the ECB's conventional and unconventional policies that have served to "save the banks" by creating fake money and deepening even more our Public Debts (state aid to the financial sector).

QUESTIONS ?

- How do you manage such an indebted Country without knowing where These Debts come from?
- and therefore without knowing how to reduce them significantly?
- and above all, without Falling into the Trap of the "indispensable sacrifices" constantly demanded by the European Commission and the European Central Bank?
 - How is it that "pension reform" keeps coming up?
 - How is it that "the Social Security coffers are always empty"?
 - Why is it that "health care spending is always too high"?
 - How is it that our hospitals and health workers are being sacrificed?
 - Why is it that our schools and Universities are under-resourced?
 - That Business Schools are so sought after?
 - Why is it that the majority of our students are in the poorest categories?
- How is it that the France is inhabited by "Gauls resistant to change"? (E. MACRON in Denmark, 29/08/2022, admiring the "Lutheran model" increasingly extremist).
- How is it that the crypto-euro project is not brought to the public square?
 - Isn't the euro a digital currency? At 99%, excluding coins and banknotes, this is already the case.
 - Should European citizens celebrate this next event?

CONCLUSION?

Clearly, yes, I repeat myself:
whether in France, Italy or elsewhere,
Opposition parties must make serious efforts to understand where the real battlefield is.

Because, as incredible as it may seem,
the ECB is already preparing
The end of the euro and the return to national currencies for 2023-2025.

Who cares in France?

Who cares in the political sphere in Europe?

Who has assessed the consequences for the people?

Who brought the debate to the public square?

I remain at your disposal for meetings and/or conferences (few in number considering my age) on these very sensitive topics but, as in any good strategy, the solutions must reserve total surprises for our irresponsible politicians and our greedy financiers.

Sincerely yours,

JUNON Moneta

³ Pôle Emploi, CAF, CNAV, the Regions and now the commercial banks "check" and communicate our bank balances to the government on simple demande, at the number m of "the fight against money laundering" (Who laughs at Who in this country?) ...
